West Valley City Seeks Residents' Input on Future Direction of City

West Valley City – The West Valley City Mayor and Council are in the process of determining the City's priorities for the coming year and are asking for residents' input. As they prepare for their annual strategic planning sessions, members of the council encourage all residents to offer their input on what they would like to see the city focus on for the next twelve months.

"It is essential for our residents to have a say in what we are doing as their elected leaders," says Mayor Mike Winder.

To provide input, residents are encouraged to visit www.wvc-ut.gov/feedback through January.
